Self-Introduction's Examples

You may deliver many types of self-introductions at various points throughout your career, which may help build professional relationships that lead to job opportunities. As an English learner, it's a good idea to prepare a couple of introductions and practice them until you're comfortable with them.

Below are samples suited to some of the most common situations you may encounter:

HOW TO INTRODUCE YOURSELF IN A CLASS

Self-introductions in a class are meant to be brief and conversational. You don't need to provide a detailed account of your life. Here is an example:

“My name's Lucia and I'm from Spain. I was born in the south of Spain but I live in Barcelona. I work as a translator, and I don't have much time for hobbies these days. But in the future, I'd like to try yoga. I'm taking this class because I want to improve my speaking in English.”

HOW TO INTRODUCE YOURSELF IN A MEETING AT WORK

Work meetings are usually planned ahead, but let's not overlook the importance of the introduction. Meetings at work are expected to get straight to the point. So, start with a quick greeting then share the purpose of the meeting right away. Here is an example:

“Good morning everyone! I'm Diana from product development and today I'm excited to share with you that the mobile version for our product will be available as of Tuesday. Today, I'd like to give a quick demo of the new functionalities.”

HOW TO INTRODUCE YOURSELF IN AN INTERVIEW

Interviews in a foreign language have that extra element of anxiety, because it's not only about our job skills. But the good news is that designing a well-crafted and compelling introduction in English will pave the way and give you the confidence and ease you need to make a good impression during your interview. Here is an example of how you could introduce yourself professionally in English:

“It's so nice to finally meet you in person!

After graduating from university, I worked in sales for a few years. But three years ago, I started working in digital media marketing and my experience in sales definitely helped. I was able to help the company consistently hit its targets and grow their brand in the industry. I know that you're looking to grow your influence online, and that's why I applied for the position..."

GRAMMAR POINTS FOR INTRODUCTIONS IN ENGLISH

Remember:

1. Use the present simple for general facts about your life and routines.
2. Use the present perfect when you talk about your life experiences and achievements.
3. But if you mention a finished time period (last year, in 2010, etc.) use the simple past tense.
