

Crossword-Computer Hardware

---

Across

---

3. The main circuit board of a computer
5. An input device that can convert printed text or graphics into computer files.
10. Device used to feed data to the computer
12. A type of device that shows processed information
13. One million operations per second, a measure of CPU speed.

Down

---

1. A device for converting digital computer data to analog phone signals, and vice versa.
2. An output device that produces output on paper
4. An output device that displays information on screen.
6. Brain of the computer
7. Temporary working memory, accessed randomly.
8. Smallest unit of data that can be stored.
9. a pointing input device named after an animal
11. What do laptops use instead of mouse?

Solution

---

Across

---

3. MOTHERBOARD—The main circuit board of a computer
5. SCANNER—An input device that can convert printed text or graphics into computer files.
10. INPUT—device used to feed data to the computer
12. OUTPUT—A type of device that shows processed information
13. MEGAHERTZ—One million operations per second, a measure of CPU speed.

Down

---

1. MODEM—A device for converting digital computer data to analog phone signals, and vice versa.
2. PRINTER—An output device that produces output on paper
4. MONITOR—An output device that displays information on screen.
6. CPU—Brain of the computer
7. RAM—Temporary working memory, accessed randomly.
8. BIT—Smallest unit of data that can be stored.
9. MOUSE—a pointing input device named after an animal
11. TOUCHPAD—What do laptops use instead of mouse?